Photofacial & Signature Peel
(treatment to the chest area)

A lifetime of exposure to the sun and harsh environmental elements can accelerate the aging process, leaving skin with hyperpigmentation (discoloration), age spots, freckles, fine lines and wrinkles. The skin on your chest and neck, also known as the décolleté, is particularly vulnerable to visible aging, since it tends to be thinner and often overlooked in the sun protection regimen. The result is a noticeable contrast between the youthful, protected skin on your face, and the discolored, damaged skin on your chest. Don't let your décolleté reveal your true age! Take steps today to revitalize this vulnerable area.
